Tips to avoid YOUR Pet's Peeves

My owner should spay or neuter me!

This simple step can improve my health, help make a huge difference in the world of animal overpopulation, and reduce the risk of me running away or wandering off and getting lost.

My owner should microchip me!

If I get lost or separated from my family this permanent identification will greatly increase my chances of being found and reunited (don't forget to update our address if we move!).

My owner should provide me with proper veterinary care!

Routine check-ups and care, including teeth cleaning, will help me live a longer and healthier life.

My owner should train me to be well behaved!

By training me using positive, force-free techniques you can avoid or minimize behavior problems, which are the number one reason dogs are surrendered to shelters.

My owner should prepare a pet trust!

By doing so an owner can be assured that their pet will be properly cared for according to the owner's wishes in the event they outlive the owner. Some pets end up abandoned in shelters by family members who cannot keep or don't care to keep a family pet.
